

WA GAS INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENT AWARD 2009

30 November 2009

MEDIA RELEASE NO. CME 78-09

Stuart Hohnen, the Executive Chairman of Dampier Bunbury Pipeline, is the winner of the WA Gas Industry Development Award for 2009.

The award is widely regarded as Western Australia's most prestigious accolade within the gas industry, and is jointly sponsored by North West Shelf Gas and the Chamber of Minerals and Energy (CME).

Mr Hohnen has had a long and distinguished career within the energy industry, and since 2005 he has led the Dampier Bunbury Pipeline as its Executive Chairman.

Mr Hohnen is a former Chief Executive of the Department of Resources Development; he served as Deputy Chairman of AlintaGas from 1995 to 1998; he has run his own consulting business providing advice to clients on energy and infrastructure issues; he is a former Managing Director of Cockburn Corporation Limited; and he serves on the Executive Council of the CME.

The award was made in recognition of Mr Hohnen's significant contribution to the WA gas industry over many years.

The WA Gas Industry Development Award is now in its tenth year. Notable past recipients include Sir Charles Court, Eve Howell, Keith Spence, Harry Butler, Bill Rogers and Phil Harvey.

CME and NWSG congratulate Mr Hohnen as a worthy winner of the 2009 award.
